With the sum of $4000 as their goal, workers for the South San Francisco Community Chest will commence action next Monday morning to secure contributions from merchants, business men and private individuals to benefit various relief and welfare organizations in this city.

A campaign which has been carried on in the industrial zone and which is now being brought to a close has netted approximately $2000. It is the purpose of the backers of the Chest to raise an equal sum, so that $4000 will be available for charity purposes. The response in the industrial district was generous, according to E. C. Peck, chairman of the Community Chest finance committee.

MAKE COURSES IN ENGLISH PRACTICAL. PRINCIPALS ADVISED

Steps to "cut out the dead wood" said to exist in the English courses as taught at present were taken at a two-day convention of high school and elementary school principals from San Mateo and San Francisco counties, which was held in South San Francisco Thursday and Friday. Sessions took place at the South San Francisco high school, of which L. E. Adams is principal. Teachers were urged to make practically the keynote of English instruction.

A. C. Olney, high school commissioner of education, and Mrs. Grace Standley, commissioner of grammar schools, joined in calling the convention. Olney presided at sub-group meetings of high school principals, while Mrs. Standley led discussions of subjects relating to elementary schools. The program was of an informal nature. It was designed to solve problems of administration and curricula.

As one result of the convention committees are to be appointed by Commissioner Olney to report on courses of study, with special reference to classes in English at a state convention of high school principals this spring. The city in which this convention will be held has not yet been announced.

A. C. Kleemever, principal of the South San Francisco grammar schools, took part in the conferences which were attended by leaders in elementary work. County Superintendent of Schools Roy W. Cloud presided at the general sessions.

OPTIMISM KEYNOTE STRUCK BY NEW DIRECTORS

Industrial Organizations To Have Part In
C. of C. Meetings

Optimism was the keynote of the first meeting of the new Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening at which every member was present. It was the consensus of opinion that 1924 would be the biggest year in the history of the Chamber of Commerce and South San Francisco.

Col. Charles A. Simmons, Manager of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce and J. Letchfield, director of the San Francisco Chamber's Industrial Department, will be the guests of the South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce directors during the next week at a luncheon. The purpose of the meeting will be the discussion of ways and means of a greater co-operation between the San Francisco Chamber and South San Francisco, San Francisco's logical industrial district.

The directors instructed secretary D. R. Phelps to write each industrial member asking that they designate a member of their organization who would act as their representative at the Chamber of Commerce meetings. The Pacific Coast Steel Company has already named John Williams, who made an enthusiastic speech in favor of the chamber at the annual meeting held in the Virden Cateria.

The Industrial Committee suggested by Charles Knight, Director of the Industrial Department of the California Development Association will not be named until the various industries designate their personal representatives. With the formation of this committee a careful study of South San Francisco's industrial needs and possibilities will be made in conjunction with Lloyd W. Thayer, General Manager of the South San Francisco Land and Improvement Company.

The directors have placed the Chamber of Commerce as being in favor of the Mellon Plan. Tax reduction and will use every available means of urging that this piece of legislation be passed. The billboard committee reported that two of the three boards had been completed except for the final copy of names on the framework around the signs. This will be painted and the boards illuminated during the coming week. The third sign at the north entrance to the city of San Bruno Road will be completed at an early date. Activities were forced to be suspended temporarily due to misunderstanding regarding the site of the board.

The new Board of Directors will prepare a program of work for the year and from it prepare a budget of the Chamber funds to carry out the proposed program. Both the budget and the program will be published when prepared. Upon the completion of the budget and the program, old members will be asked to affirm their membership obligations and a drive will be made for new members, which is expected, will include every progressive merchant and other interested citizens in South San Francisco. These industries who are not already members of the Chamber are also solicited.

President Dining said that he urged every member of the Chamber of Commerce to continue their support of the Chamber of Commerce by promptly paying their membership dues.

The committee appointed to study amendments to constitution will report their findings at the next regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce.

PHONE EXPANSION WILL INCLUDE SOUTH S. F.

Construction Program of Pacific System Calls for $40,000,000

South San Francisco, San Mateo, Burlingame and the Peninsula generally is included in the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company System's construction program for the year 1924 in the State of California. A capital outlay considerably in excess of the amount which has heretofore been spent in this State in any single year is involved. The plans call for expenditures in excess of $40,000,000, which will be spent for the additions to land, buildings, equipment and outside plants required to care for the constantly increasing demands on the system. During the year it is expected that there will be a net gain in the State of more than 110,000 stations, which is 50 per cent greater than in 1923.

A normal and expensive feature of the telephone company's operations is the flow of stations in and out of the system; new subscribers are being added from day to day, and at the same time other subscribers are discontinuing service. The attainment of a net gain, therefore, represents connecting and disconnecting operations involving five stations for every one that is included in the net increase.

SOUTH S. F. TO BE REPRESENTED ON INDUSTRY BOARD

H. Dinning of the South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce in a letter addressed to Secretary D. R. Phelps from Charles S. Knight, director of the industrial department of the association.

Referring to the annual dinner of the South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce which was given in the Virden Cateria last Wednesday night, Knight wrote as follows:

MYSTERY STRANGER OF SAN BRUNO IS WISCONSIN YOUTH

Mystery surrounding the well-dressed young man found lying unconscious on the State highway near San Bruno last Friday night was cleared up Sunday when the youthful stranger regained his senses and told his story.

He is Charles W. Gentgen, 22, son of a merchant of Manitowish, Wis. He started West to make his fortune. Arriving in Ogden, Utah, last Monday with $90 and a through ticket to San Francisco in his pocket, the adventurer started to take a stroll between trains. He walked a block from the station, he said, and there his memory ends.

When Chief of Police Carl Lewis found the young man, face down on the highway, he had no money on his person. It is believed that Gentgen, in a period of amnesia, traveled to San Francisco and then, still suffering from lapse of memory, began walking, and walked until he fell from exhaustion. There are no indications of mistreatment.

Chief Lewis took the stranger to Mills Memorial Hospital, where he regained consciousness Sunday. Physicians say he will completely recover. His parents have been notified.

BURGLAR VISITS WOODSIDE HOME

What appears to be a well planned plot to loot the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. William Roth at Woodside became known when the family returned from San Francisco Tuesday and found that the house had been entered and ransacked.

Mr. and Mrs. Roth spent Monday evening in San Francisco, but had carefully removed all jewelry and valuables before their departure. This accounts for the fact that the thief secured nothing of value.

According to Deputy Sheriff Pete Larreco, who was summoned and conducted the investigation, the burglar appears to be the work of one man. The intruder entered the basement first and after drinking the contents of a bottle of liquor, entered the house through a side window.

He then ransacked all the rooms in the house and on finding nothing of value decided to spend the night in the guest's room. Deputy Sheriff Larreco states that the only valuables removed were three shirts belonging to Roth, who is the vice-president and general manager of the Matson Navigation Company in San Francisco. In all probability the burglar was intent upon securing liquor, according to the officer, who believes that he was prompted to ransack the house because of his failure to find any profitable quantity of liquor.

Deputy Sheriff Larreco has notified all wealthy residents of Woodside to be on guard to frustrate what he believes is a well planned plot to loot the mansions.

Rapley was born in Canada, but came to San Mateo county when a young man. For many years he lived in Redwood City, working in various business houses here. Later he saved sufficient money to buy what is now known as the Rapley ranch near La Honda. This ranch has since become one of the most valuable pieces of property on the Peninsula.

Rapley is survived by two sons, James B. Rapley and Morris M. Rapley, both of Menlo Park, and one daughter, Mrs. Minnie Eikerenkotter of San Mateo. His wife, Mrs. Katherine Rapley, died several years ago.

Man's Home Is His Castle

In olden times the main thought man had in living in a castle was that he might secure protection against the enemies who were constantly attacking him.

Today man builds a home for comfort, for convenience, for real happiness. And with these there comes a sense of protection which is greater than could be attained when living in the old castle.

Home owning is not a fad—it is a necessity. Nothing makes so strong an appeal to modern man as the thought of owning his own home. Build now—and build in South San Francisco.

THE LEGION TAKES A HAND

Campaign in Behalf of Better Citizenship Given Impetus by State Commander James F. Collins

California Legionnaires are ready to launch the most extensive and complete campaign of education in citizenship ever attempted in the United States, State Commander James F. Collins of Long Beach has announced.

The State has been divided into forty districts under Collins' plan and a district commander appointed by the State commander as his personal representative to supervise the work.

One of the prime objects of this ambitious educational campaign is to secure a larger registration among the eligible voters and to impress upon the citizens their duty to participate in their governmental affairs.

"The Legion is aroused by the danger which confronts this country because of the apathy of her citizens toward civic affairs and the increasing neglect of the privilege of voting," Commander Collins points out.

Whatever steps the American Legion may take to remedy this apathy, it is certain that Bernard McCaffery Post of South San Francisco will heed the call even as its members did in war time.

WOMEN AND CITIZENSHIP

The Status of a Married Woman Is No Longer Determined by Citizenship of Her Husband

The status of a married woman as regards citizenship is no longer determined by the citizenship of her husband. This being election year, when registration of voters is in progress, the change in citizenship laws is of importance.

Formerly, and prior to September 22, 1922, the date of the new naturalization act, an alien woman marrying a citizen, or whose husband became naturalized prior to that date, became a citizen upon her marriage or upon such naturalization. This was unless she belonged to a class or race whose members could not be lawfully naturalized under the laws of the United States.

On the other hand, an American woman marrying a foreigner at any time prior to that date lost her citizenship, and unless her husband became naturalized, or the marriage was terminated, before that date, she must herself be naturalized in order to have her citizenship restored. Since that date, an American woman marrying an alien does not lose her citizenship; nor does an alien woman marrying a citizen gain citizenship by marriage.

MAKE COST SCALES PERMANENT

Fears of Advances and Hopes of Reductions Prevent Proper
Stability in Industry and Business

John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers of America, in his talk at the biennial convention of the organization Tuesday voiced a principle which, if accepted by all industries, would go far toward establishing industrial and business stability on an enduring basis. He argued that a wage agreement for a term of years, effected without a strike or suspension of production, would be of constructive help in restoring stability to the industry and would be a boon to the public.

There is no doubt that a settled standard of costs, whether for services, commodity, rent or interest, creates a fundamental security that benefits all parties to any transaction. Fear that wage costs may take an advance prevents investors from embarking on many a development enterprise. Hope that wage costs will go down causes the retail customer, the individual home-builder, and other small consumers to withhold making their expenditures. Both contribute to a condition of business uncertainty, unemployment and general depression. The knowledge that prices in any given line are at a comparatively permanent level results in speeding of orders, greater employment, and a certainty of income for both employers and workers that is essential for peace of mind as well as for material prosperity.

DON'T CALL 'EM FIRE LADDIES

They're not. They're men who stand ready to leap out of bed on a bitterly cold night, jump aboard the fire engine and dash down the street to the scene of the blaze at a pace which places the necks of the driver and his companions in jeopardy. They eat smoke and noxious fumes. They blister their skin and scorch their hair and ruin their clothing. They help to save lives and property and keep insurance rates down.

Within the past week or so several examples of the value of organized fire-fighting occurred in South San Francisco. An early morning blaze destroyed a garage. Adjacent buildings would have been destroyed, perhaps an entire block, had the fire-fighters (not "fire laddies"), battled less valiantly. More recently, fire attacked a large barn and feed warehouse belonging to the Virden Packing Company. The lives of several firemen were threatened when a blazing wall fell. In spite of obstacles the flames were kept from spreading.

There is no greater civic duty a man can perform than that of offering his services to a fire department composed mainly of volunteers. There are a number of men in this city who are doing this very thing.

During the past year approximately $15,000 was lost in fires which occurred in South San Francisco, according to Fire Chief B. H. Truax. The loss which might have resulted had it not been for the fire department can not be estimated.

Every city should see to it that its fire-fighting and police forces are given all aid possible in order that the maximum of service and protection may be obtained.

Is the one with a smile
When you take her home in a trolley.

INDUSTRIAL ZONE NEWS

W. P. FULLER & CO. METAL & THERMIT VIRDEN PLANT HIT HAVE 400 MEN EMPLOYED FIRE DEPT KEPT READY FOR ACTION BY TWO BLAZES; BARN IS LOST

Paint and Varnish Plant
Sends Products to Australia, Orient

For 25 years W. P. Fuller & Co., paint and varnish manufacturers, have been carrying on business at their large plant in South San Francisco. At the present time 400 persons are employed, making the establishment one of the biggest in the industrial zone here.

Varnish gums come from the United States, Africa, Australia, India and the Philippine Islands to the South San Francisco plant, and paint materials from Europe are imported. Ultimately, the manufactured products find their way up and down the Pacific Coast, to Australia and throughout the Orient.

J. Cox, superintendent of the white lead department, is the plant manager. F. Levy is superintendent of the rubber paint, enamel and color works. The varnish department is supervised by W. Roberts. A bonus system has been placed in operation at the Fuller plant, whereby employees who have been in the service of the company for three months get an additional 5 per cent, while those who have been with the firm a year get 30 per cent. This system helps to create stability in employment.

C. Moessner is chief during the day and John Mullen at night. L. Empey is captain. W. Haggard is first lieutenant of Hose Company No. 1, which has the following firemen: 1—L. Walker; 2—W. H. Phillips; 3—Fred Newhaus; 4—L. Fichler; 5—C. Harkins; 6—C. Hultberg.

W. P. Hedberg is first lieutenant of Hose Company No. 2. The other members are: 1—A. Lederman; 2—J. Korman; 3—J. C. Arbin; 4—W. P. Zolner; 5—G. Borchers; 6—S. Harkins.

E. Bohm and W. P. Gibson are electricians.

Baseball Shows Signs of Activity At Packing Establishment

A large hay barn owned by the Virden Packing Company was completely destroyed by fire Sunday. The cause of the blaze is unknown. Praise was given the South San Francisco fire department for its efforts in keeping the fire under control. Virden's cafeteria was thrown open to the firemen and coffee and pie were served. H. Holcomb appeared in the role of chef.

Smoke House Fire

Tuesday forenoon fire threatened the smoke house of the Virden plant, but it was quickly gotten under control. Virden officials have expressed thanks to neighboring factories for assistance they offered. The Western Meat Company sent two hose teams to the scene.

Baseball Revives

Baseball is beginning to take new life at Virden's. A number of the boys are out daily for exercise in this kind of sport. Employees of the plant expect to have a formidable team upon the field.

Richard Pontee, truck driver for the Virden Packing Company, encountered a streak of luck yesterday. He lost $11 in greenbacks and some hours later the money was picked up from where it had fallen between the rails of a narrow gauge railway.

ENTERPRISE FOUNDRY EMPLOYEE TO MARRY GIRL FROM OAKLAND

Joseph Burgard, who is employed at the Enterprise Foundry, will be married on Wednesday, January 30, to a Miss Baedeker of Oakland. It became known to his friends this week. A honeymoon trip of two weeks will be spent in Los Angeles. Burgard will continue to make his home in this city.

HOSE COMPANY NO. 2 WINS FIRE DRILL AT FULLER PAINT CO.

The first fire drill of the year took place yesterday at the W. P. Fuller & Co. paint works. Three hose teams competed, and at the end of the contest Company No. 2 was declared the winner. Number 3 came in second and No. 1 was last. Members of the latter team took a nice bath, Anderson taking a dive into a pool of water and then being unable to get the hose coupled to the hydrant. Consequently, all the team rushed to his rescue, which meant they were all in the swim at the same time.

Company No. 1 is composed of men from the rubber paint department; No. 2 is composed of men from the box factory, and No. 3 of employees from the warehouse and around the wharf.

The old Skyline road, extending from the road to Half Moon Bay to Kings Mountain, will be abandoned as a county thoroughfare in so far as it is not used in the new Skyline boulevard, when the latter highway is completed, the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors decided Monday afternoon. The action was recommended by Secretary H. A. Mason of the San Francisco City Planning Commission.

Other business of the supervisors in regular meeting Monday included hearing on a proposal to build a new spur track along the Willow road from the Carnduff ranch to the Veterans' Hospital. E. F. Oswald addressed the board on the matter, which was referred to Supervisor MacBain for report later.

The board received from a number of citizens in and about San Carlos a petition protesting against a permit asked by V. Arata to establish a hog ranch on marsh lands east of Belmont and San Carlos. Arata himself withdrew requests for the permit.

Other miscellaneous business included: Report of collection of approximately $10,000 in taxes.
